ONE HEART ONE SOUL CAMPAIGN

Our Capital Campaign had celebrated it's First birthday, here at Sacred Heart this past Feb.20th!

In this short time, we managed to make our Minimum Goal ($234,773.00) and a great start on attaining our Parish Goal ($240,000.00), as we are at the $234,208.18 in pledges. This means we need just another $5,227.00 to attain the Parish Goal! Of course, we can exceed our Parish Goal, as there is no set amount for a maximum amount. The three main items on our project list are, the HARPOLATER PROJECT (Mobility Lift), New Roof, and New Basement Floor. Our church is approaching its' Century Birthday, as we all know, the older one gets, the same as buildings, the more we need attention and repairs! If you can assist in supporting the needs of our church, by donating to the 1HIS Campaign, or would like to make an additional gift, we would love to talk to you and answer any questions or listen to your comments. For more information. you can call your 1HIS Campaign Volunteer, or the Rectory (519- 822-8944, 9:00 am - 1:00 pm -Mon.-Fri.) or Mike Veroni @ 519-241-9741, ... Thank you!

ANNUNCIATION OF THE LORD

Again Lent's austerity is interrupted as we solemnly keep a feast in honor of the Annunciation. The Annunciation is a mystery that belongs to the temporal rather than to the sanctoral cycle in the Church's calendar. For the feast commemorates the most sublime moment in the history of time, the moment when the Second Divine Person of the most Holy Trinity assumed human nature in the womb of the Virgin Mary. Thus it is a feast of our Lord, even as it is of Mary, although the liturgy centers wholly around the Mother of God. —The Church's Year of Grace, Pius Parsch

Today the Roman Martyrology marks the commemorations of St. Dismas, the Good Thief and St. Margaret Clitherow, wife and mother, who was one of the English martyrs. St. Margaret's feast is celebrated in England with the English Martyrs on May 4.

St. Margaret Clitherow

St. Margaret is considered the first woman martyred under Queen Elizabeth's religious suppression. Margaret was raised a Protestant but converted to Catholicism about two to three years after she was married. According to her confessor, Fr. Mush, Margaret became a Catholic because she "found no substance, truth nor Christian comfort in the ministers of the new church, nor in their doctrine itself, and hearing also many priests and lay people to suffer for the defense of the ancient Catholic Faith." Margaret's husband, John Clitherow, remained a Protestant but supported his wife's decision to convert. They were happily married and raised three children: Henry, William, and Anne. She was a businesswoman who helped run her husband's butcher shop business. She was loved many people even her Protestant neighbors.

Margaret practiced her faith and helped many people reconcile themselves back into the Catholic Church. She prayed one and a half hours every day and fasted four times a week. She regularly participated in mass and frequently went to confession. When laws were passed against Catholics, Margaret was imprisoned several times because she did not attend Protestant services. Other laws were passed which included a 1585 law that made it high treason for a priest to live in England and a felony for anyone to harbor or aid a priest. The penalty for breaking such laws was death. Despite the risk, Margaret helped and concealed priests. Margaret said "by God's grace all priests shall be more welcome to me than ever they were, and I will do what I can to set forward God's Catholic service."

Margaret wanted her son Henry to receive a Catholic education so she endeavored that her son be sent outside the Kingdom to Douai, France for schooling. Such an act was considered a crime. When the authorities discovered their intention, the Common Council had the Clitherow house searched. They initially found nothing but later retrieved religious vessels, books and vestments used for Holy Mass. They also found a secret hiding place but no renegade priests. Still, Margaret was arrested. Margaret refused to plead and to be tried saying, "Having made no offense, I need no trial." English law decreed that anyone who refused to plead and to be tried should be "pressed to death." So on the morning of March 25, 1586, after sewing her own shroud the night before and after praying for the Pope, cardinals, clergy, and the Queen, Margaret was executed. She lay sandwiched between a rock and a wooden slab while weights were dropped upon her, crushing her to death. She did not cry out but prayed "Jesu, Jesu, Jesu, have mercy upon me." She died at age 30.

Moved by her saintly life, all her children entered the religious life. Anne became a nun. Henry and William both became priests.
